How, When and Why to Talk to Your Kids About Money

With bestselling author and "Your Money" columnist for The New York Times,

Ron Lieber

Ron's talk will cover the basics -- allowance, chores, clothes, phones, cars and college. But his overarching focus is on values. What we spend, how we save and where we give says a lot about who we are. And every question that our kids ask -- from how much money we make to why we live where we live -- is an opportunity to impress our values upon our children. His talk will walk parents through all of those conversations and explain when to have them and what to say.

Ron Lieber has been the "Your Money" columnist for The New York Times since 2008. Before coming to The Times, he wrote the "Green Thumb" personal finance column for The Wall Street Journal and was part of the start-up team at the paper's Personal Journal section. His first book Taking Time Off: Inspiring Stories of Students Who Enjoyed Successful Breaks from College and How You Can Plan Your Own, co-authored with Colin Hall, was a New York Times bestseller in 1996. Ron lives in Park Slope, Brooklyn, with his wife and two daughters. The Opposite of Spoiled, published in February, 2015, was an instant New York Times and Wall Street Journal bestseller.
